

Alice Stallknecht, Dolly Lewis, 1933

From her elegant seat, the woman in this painting crosses her arms and stares right out at us. If she had a thought bubble above her head, what would she be thinking?