Hoch uses children's puppets and toys as a visual joke to suggest that real life can be like play-acting. Play can be positive, too. What colors could you add to this artwork to change the mood?